During the Management Team Building we will study two main things:

- What does the Management Team do
- Why does the Management Team exist

WHAT = THE MISSION

- Communication
- Roles
- The way to make decisions
- Norms of the group
- Relations to other groups

HOW = THE PROCESS

1. What works better when done by the group instead of being delegated to an individual
2. What activities are the ones every member of the Management Team should be part of either for information or for some other special reason

Time is money!

The Work Process in Management Team Building

The team is the best developer of it's own processes.

The consultant – when needed – will take care of the process and structure of working

The manager is always responsible for all the Team Building activities. He often uses the consultant help to get the process started.

*Team Building is a work process,
not an event.
To plan activities
is not enough.
There has to be a proper follow up and evaluation.
Results are the best reward.*
